

About Karey Meysenburg

As Bookkeeper since 2017, Karey is responsible for financial recordkeeping for the Wallace Centers of Iowa. She received a BS from Arizona State University in Business Management and earned a certificate in accounting from Simpson College in 2011. After a short stint at a public accounting firm, she focused on small business bookkeeping before arriving at WCI. She spends her time paying bills, chasing down receipts, paying employees and gratefully processing contributions.

Outside of work time, her hobbies include sewing, crochet, singing at church and spending time with family.
