FEATURES OF THE BIRTHPLACE FARM

Henry A. Wallace was elected US Vice President, yet his place in "America's first family of agriculture" was by virtue of his birth. Early in his career, he founded a world-renowned seed corn company and was an editor of Wallaces' Farmer magazine. He served as Vice President during WWII in addition to holding cabinet positions before and after the war.

Open year-round, the Wallace Farm is a 40-acre parcel of the family's original 160-acre farm, now on the National Register of Historic Places. This site includes:

- Restored Farmhouse
- Gathering Barn
- Restored Iowa Prairie
- Sculpture Walking Path
- Orchard & Produce Garden
- Henry A. Wallace Historic Corn Plot

ASK ABOUT ADD-ON PROGRAMS & TOURS

With an optional guided tour or a customized program (or a bit of both), your group will be talking about their visit long afterward. Programs and tours can be customized to fit your schedule and group interests. Programs can occur as visitors are eating dessert or afterwards. Tours can take place before or after meals.

OTHER AMENITIES

- Gift Shop
- Accessibility: The Farmhouse and Gathering Barn are accessible. The prairie path and garden areas are mown grass.
